Session 145: Uncreated force, nonverbal connections and experience

Summary:

Goal of these communications is to provide information in a simple format to a broad audience, including those without a background in metaphysical concepts, religions, or philosophy. Such background is not needed to understand. Everyone has their own philosophy, religion, etc. Allow others to have their own state of knowing, whether you agree or not.

It is a "trap" to think that education and conceptualization is more evolved or better. It is not. Do not judge. People without these aspects may be more advanced via non-verbal understanding. Individual experience is most important, not communication or verbal concepts. How should we set goals? Connect with the "uncreated force." This does not require changes; progress happens automatically in this case.

Shift at 32 minutes: Death. With connection to the uncreated force, death is seen very differently. Goals are not needed if there is connection with uncreated force.

Shift at 40 minutes: Allow uncreated energy to flow through you to become earth energy and much will be created automatically.

Other comments: Lots of obfuscation and circuitous verbalization as usual with IMEC, but useful thoughtful content buried in all this.
